

Animal Psychology - Its Nature and Its Problems

Written by J. A. Bierens de Haan, this book contains a concise yet comprehensive investigation into the topic of animal psychology. This fascinating treatise is based on the idea that all animal behaviour is a result of instinct alone, and that singular experiences accrued during the lifetime of an animal might influence these instincts. Contents include: The Problem of Animal Psychology, The Problem of Animal Instinct, Learning the Problem of Animal Intelligence, The Problem of Animal Understanding, The Problem of Animal Ideation, The Problem of the Animals World, etcetera. Johannes Abraham Bierens de Haan (1883 - 1958), was a Dutch biologist and ethologist, born in Haarlem in North Holland. Many vintage texts such as this are increasingly hard to come by and expensive, and it is with this in mind that we are republishing this book now, in an affordable, modern, high-quality edition. It comes complete with a specially commissioned new biography of the author.

Originally published in 1948, the author follows the idea that the instincts are the spring and basis of all animal behaviour (with the exception perhaps of play), Dog behavior is the internally coordinated responses of individuals or groups of domestic dogs .. Separation problems have been found to be linked to the dogs dependency on its owner, not because of disobedience.
